BIOGRAPHIES

Caitlin McNamara is Recruitment and Marketing Officer at the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, a division of the Institute of International Education. Caitlin recruits and advises U.S. academics and professionals seeking international teaching and research assignments through the Fulbright Scholar Program and assists in implementing priorities and initiatives throughout the Program.

Jermaine Jones is the Senior Program Manager for Africa and the Middle East in the U.S. Student Programs Division of the Institute of International Education (IIE). He also manages the Fulbright-Clinton Fellowship Program. His principal duties involve assisting candidates interested in applying for U.S. Student Fulbright fellowships to these world regions, as well as those who have already been awarded fellowships.

In Jordan, Hannah Rosenberg Jones served as a Fulbright English Teaching Assistant at the University of Jordan in Amman where she was the primary teacher for undergraduate level classes. In addition to her University of Jordan responsibilities, she volunteered weekly as an English teacher at Zaatari Camp for Syrians. Hannah helped establish a volunteer program for native English speakers in Amman to assist in conversation classes at Zaatari Camp.
